The trouble of David B. Hill seems to be that he took too much vacation at the Chicago convention in 1896. Things slipped much farther than he thought.

Further details from Galveston only serve to make clear that the horror of the storm's work has been under-estimated. It is now believed that not less than five thousand persons lost their lives and those who survived the fury of the hurricane are in the rest extremity. The city itself is almost a complete ruin, and it is even said that the site of the once prosperous and beautiful port city may be abandoned. The country is responding nobly to the appeal for help. Too much generosity cannot be displayed. The suffering in Galveston and vicinity is beyond description.

THE MINERS' STRIKE.

A strike is always to be deplored. It works harm not only to the public, but its burdens fall heaviest on the strikers, who are least able to bear them. The decision of the executive board of the United Mine Workers to authorize the anthracite miners of Pennsylvania to go on strike is at this time especially deplorable. The approach of winter will vastly multiply all the privations and horrors that a mine strike imposes, and the suffering will be intense if the struggle is prolonged.

The miners have just complained. Their grievances are real. They usually are. But it must be said that the miners have endeavored to avert the trouble. They have tried compromise and as a last resort proposed to submit their contentions to impartial arbitration. This the mine operators have rejected and a great strike that will involve nearly 150,000 men has been ordered.

Among the grievances the miners want adjusted are the rent rates for the company tenement houses, which are excessive, and the price of blasting powder, which the companies sell to the miners at a profit in some cases as high as $1.50 per keg. Another cause of the trouble is the mine tax. The miners are compelled to produce about 3,000 pounds of coal for a ton and they ask that this be reduced to the same ton weight as the output of the companies. There are many other grievances, which, with those here given, make up a heavy bill of complaint.

The strike will be bitter, obstinate and in all probability marked by disorder. If it is prolonged into cold weather there will be scenes not pleasant to contemplate. It is exceedingly to be regretted that the operators have refused all peace overtures. Any disposition to compromise would doubtless have averted trouble.

China has not yet learned to its extent the use of the check and bank of deposit, the money order or the bank draft in her mercantile transactions.

CAMP FIRES GLOW

WARMS THE HEARTS OF THE OLD VETERANS.

FOND MEMORIES COME BACK

MEETINGS AT PRINCESS RINK AND LIBRARY HALL.

SPEAKERS' LOFTY TRIBUTES

TO THE WORTH AND VALOR OF THE AMERICAN SOLDIER.

In two splendid campfires, one at Princess rink and the other at Library hall, the veterans and their friends gathered Wednesday evening, enjoyed the stirring music and cheered again and again at the recital of the valor and bravery and the glory of the American soldier.

Corporal James Tanner was the presiding officer and immediately after his introduction by Dr. E. P. Banning, the famous corporal announced his intention of varying from the fixed program. Some one had sent a handsome bouquet to the chairman, and Corporal Tanner took occasion to express his thanks for the offering, saying that the veterans appreciated the good things of life. He contended that the old soldier ought to hear the good things to be said about him; that an ounce of taffy was worth more than a pound of "epitaphy."

Gen. David E. Beem, the Indiana department commander of the G. A. R., was the first speaker called upon, and he responded in part as follows: "If there is any class of men entitled to have a good time, it is the old soldier. We don't want to claim the earth, but we are not ashamed of our record. We have a right to come before an audience of American people and assert ourselves. The Union soldier, by his fidelity, his endurance and his valor accomplished everything he set out to do. He has a right to be more happy every day of his life. There were no spoils for the American soldier to bring back—it was not spoils he went after. But he came back with the principles of the immortal Declaration of Independence made vital and living for all time. There has never been a day since I enlisted but what I have been happy because I was a Union soldier. (Applause.) As a result of the Union soldier's work we have a united, magnificent people—a nation the pride of every American citizen and the hope of every man who loves freedom throughout the world. There is no better place than Fort Wayne and no better time than the present for the dedication of that gun captured by the brave boys of the Spanish-American war. Here, where so much history clusters, it is fitting that such a presentation be made. I look into the future and I see a nation still progressing—the sturdiest hope of all the civilized world. And while we honor the late heroes who sent the American name around the world in a flame of glory, I feel that the old boys of '91 can claim a share of the honor, for we unified the country and made these later triumphs possible. I came to meet you all, and I am proud and happy to be here tonight."

Corporal Tanner called upon a Baltimore veteran, Comrade Mackey, who came forward and delighted the old soldiers by singing "The Old Coffee Kettle That Hung on a Pole." He was vociferously cheered.

THE PRIVATE SOLDIER.

Nearly a year ago, at the close of an impromptu address at Library hall, General Wooters detailed Rev. W. D. Parr, of the Wayne Street M. E. church, to respond to the sentiment "The Private Soldier," at the present encampment. In a magnificent effort that roused the veterans to the highest pitch of enthusiasm Dr. Parr last evening fulfilled this mission. In part he said:

"I esteem it a high honor to speak of the private soldier, for he was the man you could not get along without. He came from the common people, the bone and sinew of every age. The common people have given us our best men, and the private soldier is the representative of this class. He learned to use a gun and use it tremendously. You may say what you please about 'The Man with the Hoe,' but the man with the gun is supreme in history making. I would not take a laurel from the leaders. The time has been when the men who wore the shoulder straps got all the credit. But things are righting themselves. Give this old world time on almost any question and she will right herself."

"Where were the lieutenants and captains? Close beside you. The majors and colonels? Well, tolerably close. The brigadier generals? Back a little. Generals? Way back. You private soldiers were in the front where the battle was hottest. When war shook the republic and the magnificent Lincoln called for help, who answered him? The private soldier. Again and again came the shout, 'We are coming, Father Abraham, a hundred thousand strong.' (Applause.) I could not help smiling today at a banner carried by the New Jersey veterans. 'The spring chickens of 1861.' Ah, yes. You were the blue-eyed boys from the factories and the field, but you knew what you went for. The country is always safe in the hands of its intelligent common people. And the boys of today will do all you did, and do it with an extra twist, for they are your sons, and have the fruits of your teaching. Keep energy and brains mixed in pretty good compound and we have no need to fear for America."

"Then the country had to be made over, and you did it. You came from the ranks of war to the paths of peace, and you got married. That was the best day's work you ever did aside from putting down the rebellion. I have faith in the homes of America, and I'm especially proud of Indiana. The state has gone a step in advance and provided a home not alone for the old soldier, but for his wife. (Cheers.) The private soldier has gotten into every annals and useful pursuit of life. Another thing; you purified the flag. (Cheers.) Thank God for that. The highest principles cost the most precious blood. There is no danger in the private soldier. He knows what he is doing. He is a sovereign. I want him to have a good home and a good time the rest of his life. I would give him the happiest journey toward the setting sun."

Dr. Parr touched upon the growth of national life, pleaded for more liberal pensions and finally asked all the private soldiers to arise to their feet. It was an impressive scene, and the speaker closed in a brilliant peroration in tribute to the private soldier who offered his life to make glorious the institutions of this land. Dr. E. P. Banning, of this city, was called upon and speaking for the Fort Wayne veterans expressed gratitude for the manner in which the citizens of Fort Wayne had assisted in ennobling the Baltimore committee to fulfill every pledge made to the national encampment one year ago.

Gen. "Tom" Landrum, of Louisville, and General Hozier, of Cincinnati, addressed the meeting briefly, the latter urging the teaching of patriotism to the rising generation that they may more fully understand and more dearly love the old flag. Corporal Tanner slyly intimated an intention of bringing the campfire to a close, but there were loud and general cries from every part of the house for "Tanner." The distinguished corporal responded in a magnificent address. He said in part:

CORPORAL TANNER'S TALK.

"You have heard much of the bravery of the American volunteer, but I would not have you go home with the impression that we all faced battle without a tremor. I believe a full realization of his situation comes at first to every man on the field; a consciousness that the next shot may lay him low with all life behind and all eternity opening before him. Yes, and there prayers, too. Because we were in the army need we have forgotten the teachings received at mother's knee? Ah, no. Yet we accepted the chances of war, and never to this day have I heard from the lips of even a maimed comrade one regret that he took those chances. He lifted that old flag a little higher than it had ever been before, and now among the nations of the earth all must look upward to see it. And the younger generation has showed it up a notch higher, carried it ten thousand miles farther, and are standing behind it in China tonight. (Cheers.)

"This country is going to do business for a good while yet. All the states now stand as they never stood before in defense of the flag. Our country is safe because we have the sturdiest manhood and the loftiest womanhood in the wide world. I would leave one last word to these old comrades of mine: Be as manly as you were good soldiers. Be as true to your better nature and to your God as you were to your country and your flag. Then in the last hour, when we face the unconquerable enemy, we shall look upon it as an opening door and on the other side there will be a general reunion. Not a comrade missing. When we lie down at last in those tents whose curtains never outward swing we can look upon that old flag. There will come a great beauty in our hearts, a glow of mighty pride as the soldier exclaims in triumph: 'Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord.'"

In closing the immense audience, standing, united in singing "America," and for some time the old veterans marched past the platform to grasp the hand of their distinguished comrade.

AT LIBRARY HALL.

There was some delay in calling the campfire at Library hall together. Several hundred people were in the hall at 8 o'clock, but none of the gentlemen assigned to get the campfire started were present, and at 8:30 o'clock Col. John A. Scott took matters in hand and requested Gen. A. B. Hay, of Pittsburgh, to act as chairman until the arrival of Gen. W. E. Wooters, who had been chosen to act as chairman. Mr. Hay was founder of the Union Veteran Legion. After prayer by Rev. Norris, Mr. Hay announced that he would try to keep the audience interested until General Wooters and the other speakers arrived. Mr. Hay recalled the days of the civil war when the boys in blue were camping and marching in the enemy's country and lauded them for their great valor in preventing the disunion of the greatest nation on the face of the earth.

GENERAL WOOTERS SPEAKS.

Shortly before 9 o'clock General Wooters and Governor Mount arrived at the hall, escorted by Mayor Scherer, and later Hon. R. C. Bell arrived. Mr. Hay introduced General Wooters as chairman of the campfire, and the Union Veteran Legion leader proceeded to describe what a campfire was. He explained that the ones being held in Fort Wayne during the encampment were unlike those of the sixties. Then the boys sat on kettles and other improvised seats around the smoldering fires of the company cooks and talked of home and the dear ones behind. Sometimes they would vary the monotony by going on foraging tours, and again they would have music and songs by some of the amateur musicians and singers who could always be found in every company. There were many hardships during the war and the union soldiers suffered much, but there were many pleasant features of army life, and the speaker told of many incidents which came within his experience which at the time were hardships, but which he now looked back upon as enjoyable incidents of his life as a soldier.

GOVERNOR MOUNT SPEAKS.

Chairman Wooters introduced Governor Mount as one of the comrades in blue whom he met for the first time had met on yesterday. The governor was greeted with applause and began his address by paying a tribute to the Union Veteran Legion, all of whom were men who had been in the thickest of the fray for the protection of the flag and knew what it meant to be a soldier. A man, he said, who had served two years or more in the front knew of the hardships that were to be met in a soldier's life. He believed that the present prosperity, the present position America now held in the world could be credited to the brave boys in blue who had fought as brave an enemy more than a third of a century ago. The character of the United States government had then been settled forever and there need be no fear that its policy would ever be changed. The drafters of the constitution had made a mistake in allowing slavery to exist and permitting citizens to arrest fugitive black people and turn them back to their owners. Every effort had been made to amicably settle this question, but there was no way to settle it but with that final arbiter—the sword. God had kept a watchful eye on the struggling armies of the north and south and He guided so that the great question was settled right.

The speaker said that when he was mustered out of the army at the end of the war he did not believe that the day would come when he could forgive the men who had fought against the flag, but he was happy to say that only a year or so ago he had the extreme pleasure of attending a reunion of the blue and the gray at Evansville and there heard from the lips of the men who had opposed the union forces thanks uttered that the question of slavery had been settled and settled right. He had the extreme pleasure of signing a bill which had been passed by the Indiana legislature returning to the Texas rangers the battleflag captured by the regiment of which he was a member. When he visited the great Lone Star state to officially return the flag he had seen the gray-haired veterans of the blue and gray rub elbows and tears were in the eyes of many as they realized at last that this was a reunited country. One of the proudest moments of his life, the governor said, was when he visited the old battlegrounds of Chickamauga and there helped dedicate to Indiana soldiers the handsome monument ever erected to the boys in blue in the United States. Little did he think a quarter of a century ago that this great pleasure was in store for him. This was recompense enough for the years he had fought under the flag for the preservation of the union. The governor closed his speech with another pretty compliment to the members of the Union

Veteran Legion. The old soldiers were rapidly passing to the great beyond and a quarter of a century hence a patriot who fought from 1861 to 1865 to prevent the dissolution of his country would be a wonder to the generations then alive. But never would the American people forget the brave young soldiers who had made it possible for the country to rank as the greatest on the face of the earth.

During his speech Governor Mount repeated several instances of his army life. There were all characters of men among the soldiers and on foraging expeditions many popular articles were brought into camp. He recalled that one soldier returned to camp with a corset, which he hooked around a tree and commenced to hug. He had not forgotten somebody at home.

General Wooters again entertained the audience with reminiscences of camp life and as he told of the methods adopted by a regimental cook to prepare apple dumplings for several companies the ladies in the hall were convulsed with laughter. The cook had forgotten the shortening, and instead of the great treat, the soldiers were disgusted with their dumplings and the cook lost his job, only to be succeeded by a worse one.

HON. R. C. BELL HEARD.

General Wooters next introduced Hon. R. C. Bell, who began, as had the governor, by complimenting the members of the Union Veteran Legion, all of whom knew soldier life from A to Z. They had fought for years to maintain the principles of the American flag, not in battles of conquest, but in protection of their country. He, too, believed that to the valor of the soldier boys of '60 can the great republic today be thankful for its standing as the great nation of the world, the harbinger of freedom and liberty to all peoples. Mr. Bell also told many laughable incidents of his experience as a soldier.

Mayor Scherer made a few remarks thanking the members of the Union Veteran Legion for their visit to the city and then General Wooters announced that the campfire was ended.

REMONSTRANCE.

To the Mayor and Honorable Council of Fort Wayne.

Gentlemen: The members of the Vehicle Owners' association, which comprises more than two hundred of the taxpayers of Fort Wayne, desire to make known to you their objections to the vehicle tax before you take the final vote on the repeal of that obnoxious ordinance.
First: We oppose the tax more from principle than by reason of the money involved, because we are sure it is unconstitutional to tax us not only twice on the same property but five times, for besides paying street assessments we pay a poll tax to keep up the streets, then a tax on our personal property, including horses, dogs, etc., then a county tax and a state tax.
Second: The claim of the supporters of the tax that it is necessary because many irresponsible men do not pay their tax is not well founded, as we should not be singled out to make up the deficit when it should be borne by all the taxpayers equally.
Third: All vehicles are not taxed. Street cars are not, and their owners have a franchise worth many thousands of dollars. Permit us to ask why they are not compelled to pay and take out tax tags; and why are not the wagons that bring hay and saw logs over our streets compelled to pay the vehicle tax when they certainly do as much damage to the streets as our heaviest trucks, and their owners pay neither city taxes nor for street improvements.

Fourth: The ordinance is not fairly and equitably enforced. Many escape because they refuse to pay, while others compromise for less than the regular fee.

Fifth: The claim that it is necessary, to enable the tax levy to be reduced, and if the ordinance is repealed the levy will be increased, seems a confusion of weak-knees; for why should we be singled out to pay more than our share of taxes to enable the balance of the taxpayers to pay less?

Every one of us have paid our proportion of street improvements, the tax assessments on our houses, wagons and other personal property, and then to be compelled to pay the vehicle tax is a double taxation, which cannot be legally collected.

We are not here to coerce or influence this honorable body, but to impress upon them that a great wrong is being imposed upon, and to respectfully request you to give this statement a fair consideration and then to vote as your conscience may dictate.

To the Honorable Mayor and Members of the Common Council.

Gentlemen: The firm seeking to place waste paper boxes for advertising purposes on the streets of the city of Fort Wayne having asked you to approve of their purpose, we, the undersigned, do hereby petition that your honorable body refuse to grant this privilege to these aforesaid firm for the following reasons:

1. Such boxes standing three (3) feet high by two (2) feet wide on the sidewalk will prove an obstruction.

2. There is no need for such boxes, as the Woman's Club League has placed waste paper receptacles on the streets and stand ready to meet the demand for more when- ever needed.

3. The unsightliness which such boxes, covered with promiscuous advertising, will present, placed on our cleanly, orderly and present well-kept streets.

COMMUNICATION.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Sept. 11, 1900.
Gentlemen of the Council.

Dear Sirs: I signed the petition of the Woman's Club League under a misapprehension, not understanding all the facts relating thereto. I desire to state that I believe the franchise Mr. Miller asks for will result in bringing some income to the city rather than the expense that the present system entails, and I do not believe the boxes will be any obstruction to sidewalks or be at all unsightly.

Yours truly,
C. MCULLOCH.

Referred to committee on contracts and franchises.

REMONSTRANCE.

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council of the City of Fort Wayne.

In the matter of the franchise proposed for your approval, by the board of public works of said city, in favor of Henry P. Schneider, I, S. N. L. C. Hunter, C. W. Orr and W. S. O'Rourke, for a right of way for interurban street railway purposes over and along certain streets of said city, the undersigned respectfully remonstrate against the granting by you of said franchise.

Your remonstrance, in connection with the owners of some fifteen hundred front feet of property along Pioneer avenue and the Wayne Trace, affected by the proposed franchise, are the owners of all of the 58 lots in Edgerton addition to the city of Fort Wayne, excepting lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36.

They are opposed to the granting of the proposed franchise on the ground that any such street railway, the operation of which would be in the hands of a private franchise, can be by no possibility be of sufficient value to said city to warrant the use of the streets over which it is proposed to extend the same; and on the ground that they, in their property rights and interests along the Wayne Trace, Selden street, Walcott avenue and Winter street, will be greatly damaged by the granting of said franchise along said highway and streets.

They firmly believe that neither they nor others similarly interested along streets affected by said proposed franchise can ever, by any possibility, receive any benefit from the granting of the franchise proposed, which will be commensurate with the damage to the streets over which it extends, and they will ever pray that your honorable body will refuse to grant to the petitioners the franchise asked for by them.

ANSWER THE APPEAL

Relief is Pouring Into Galveston from All Parts of the United States.

LOSS OF LIFE IS ABOVE 5,000

Houston, Tex., Sept. 13.—From all parts of the United States and from portions of England many thousands of dollars are pouring into this city for the relief of Texas destitute storm sufferers.

Train loads of provisions and clothing are also hurrying toward Houston and Galveston, and those of the refugees who have arrived here are being made as comfortable as possible. Estimates of the number of dead still vary. Mayor Jones, of Galveston, is maintaining his opinion that the number will be no less than 5,000. Property losses are mounting higher as details arrive and some estimates for the city of Galveston reach as high as $20,000,000. There are 25,000 homeless in that city to be taken care of, and it is a question whether Galveston can or will be rebuilt. There seems to be a disposition on the part of leading citizens, however, to start resolutely where the storm left off and raise a new city from the ruins of the old.

Troops are patrolling the streets and looting has almost ceased. Several additional cases have been reported where vandals have been shot down while robbing the dead, but the troops are rapidly gaining control of the lawless element.

At noon today no new features had developed since last night, but wires are expected to be in working order into this evening direct to Galveston, and in that event fuller and more authentic details may be expected by tomorrow.

CAPABLE RELIEF MEASURES.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 13.—A special to the Picayune from Galveston says:

The relief measures organized here are running more smoothly than before; the destitute are receiving supplies from the various depots; the sick are receiving the best of care and physicians are giving their services gratis.

Reports continue to be received from nearby coast and mainland towns telling of destruction and loss of life. The coast for miles inland is said to be covered with bodies. One gentleman aided in burying 100 a few miles north of Virginia Point and parties are out in every direction engaged in the same duty.

Charles Patterson, connected with the Gulf and Interstate railway, came in from Bolivar Point and reported that they had buried between 300 and 400 of Galveston's dead and that Bolivar peninsula, from the point of East Highlands for twenty-one miles south, everything was washed away and seventy-five people were drowned.

Rolling stock was either completely destroyed or frightfully damaged and twenty-one miles of road bed was washed away.

Colonel Polk, general manager of the Santa Fe, has received reports that every station house, freight depot and water tank on the line between Virginia Point and Rosenberg Junction, sixty-six miles northwest, was either blown away or wrecked and miles of track washed away. All the towns between these two points were severely damaged by the cyclone and all had the death list of from five to fifteen people, with many more or less injured.

Secretary Bailey, of the Galveston Wharf company, estimates the loss to that company at $300,000, while a prominent ship broker places the loss to foreign shipping in the port at $500,000 to $700,000.

It is conservatively estimated that the loss in property, goods, merchandise, etc., will not fall below but will probably exceed $10,000,000.

Decomposition began so rapidly that further removal of bodies from the devastated portion of the city has been inhibited and the interment ordered where found.

After an accurate description of the body and memorandum of the effects found thereon have been taken for future identification, the body is buried.

Houston has sent eleven tow barges loaded with relief supplies and more will follow.

Port Arthur has sent several loads and telegrams are received from numerous points that stores and supplies are on the way for the sick, all of which will be relieved to some extent.

The piling up of the floor at the wharf is all that is left of Galveston's miles of water front. Part of the south wall of the jetties is gone and rocks as large as rooms are piled into the channel, making it exceedingly hazardous for ships to come in.

There are thirty craft of all sizes piled high and dry on the beach. Numbers of tramp steamers are aground at Pelican Island, Texas City, Virginia Point and Bolivar Point. The water averaged a depth of five feet over the entire island. The older residents of the islands profited by former experience and boated and clung to holes in the floors of their homes, and as a rule, they escaped. The slip of water at the point of Tremont street could be crossed by stepping on the dead bodies of human beings and animals.

On Tuesday an ordinance was passed authorizing rescuing and burying parties to set fire to wrecked buildings and burn them. On these funeral pyres hundreds of corpses were cremated.

Fifty thieves, mostly negroes, were shot Tuesday and Wednesday.

Gangs of laborers are busy cutting passage ways for vehicles through the clogged streets. The debris is cast to one side, to be removed and burned as soon as possible. So many domestic animals were killed or crippled and boats, drays and vehicles damaged that the thorough cleaning of the city will take months to perform.

STANCHFIELD THE NOMINEE

NAMED FOR GOVERNOR BY THE
NEW YORK DEMOCRATS.

Easily Wins Over Bird S. Coler, Who

Was Opposed by Croker—Trusts

Denounced in the Platform.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 13.—By a unanimous vote, after one ballot, in which he far outstripped his only opponent, Bird S. Coler, John B. Stanchfield, of Chemung, was yesterday afternoon nominated for governor by the democratic convention. The ballot resulted: Stanchfield, 294; Coler, 154; Mackey, 1. Senator Hill moved to make the nomination of Stanchfield unanimous.

John T. Norton, of Troy, was nominated for secretary of state; Edwin G. Atwater, of Dutchess, for comptroller; John B. Judson, for state treasurer; Thomas F. Conway for attorney general, and Russell A. Stewart for state engineer.

THE PLATFORM ADOPTED.
The report of the platform committee was adopted without amendment. The platform begins with pledging the democracy of New York anew to the principles and politics of Jeffersonian democracy and endorsing the platform adopted by the last national democratic convention.

Imperialism is denounced and the Kansas City platform is reiterated and endorsed. William J. Bryan is endorsed in a lofty tribute.

Relative to trusts the platform specifically condemns the "corporate combination known as the 'trusts'" and denounces all combinations of capital known as "trusts" as inevitably and intolerably unjust both to producer and consumer, one result of which is to "destroy all individual enterprise and to rob the young men of the country of the fair competition which in democratic times constituted the great glory of the nation, and permitted the advancement and independence of our youth."

YOUNG VETERANS MARCH SPANISH WAR BOYS' DAY

Parade of Soldiers of the Spanish War
Reviewed by Col. W. J. Bryan and Governor James A. Mount.

FILIPINO GUN DEDICATED IN LAWTON PARK BY SPEECHES

This was the Spanish-American war veterans' day, and the boys who rallied to the colors when war with Spain came as valiantly as did the "boys" of 1861, marched today over practically the same route as did yesterday the veterans of that earlier and greater war.

It was 2:45 o'clock when the parade of the Spanish-American War Veterans got under way. At the head was a platoon of police, and behind them rode Capt. C. E. Barnett, the chief marshal, and his staff. Capt. W. F. Ranke was in command of the first division, marching directly behind the City band. It was made up of company D, Third regiment, Indiana national guard; the Hibernian Rifles and battery B, of the First artillery, Indiana national guard. At the head of the second division was the Olympia band, and in order came the 157th Indiana Volunteer Infantry association; Lawton camp, Spanish-American War Veterans, and the veterans of the Twenty-eighth battery. The third division was headed by the Wayne tent band, and in command was Capt. A. H. Douglass, behind whom rode the new Fort Wayne independent cavalry. Following these were a number of carriages containing General Wooters, Adj. Gen. John N. Reber and other prominent officers of the Union Veteran Legion.

Moving from Calhoun street west on Berry to Griffith, then south to Wayne and east to Lafayette, the gilt to his home city, Fort Wayne.

Hon. K. B. Hanna was master of ceremonies and directed the program. After music by the band Rev. J. A. P. McGaw, of the Third Presbyterian church, offered prayer.

GUN PRESENTED TO THE CITY.
Major W. W. Barnett, late of the One-hundred-and-fifty-seventh Indiana, delivered a short address presenting the gun to the city, speaking as follows:

Fellow Citizens and Comrades of the Spanish-American war: We are assembled here today for the purpose of dedicating to the memory of one whom this community reveres and honors as one of the United States' most noble soldiers, Henry W. Lawton, a monument in the form of a gun captured by him in the Philippine islands. Fort Wayne was the home of General Lawton while in civil life and we take pleasure in honoring his name and memory both as citizen and soldier. We recognize in him the highest type of American citizenship and soldier ability. He was what is known as a self-made soldier, having graduated from the ranks and climbed the ladder step by step until he finally finished at the top, second to no man in active service.

The One Hundred and Fifty-seventh regiment had the distinguished honor for a very brief period to be brigaded under General Lawton while at Chickamauga

The reason for this rapid advancement is well known to every one because of the reputation held at that time by General Lawton which he gained during the German campaign. From that time the government recognized in him one able to cope with that particular character of warfare to be met with in Cuba and the Philippine islands. For that reason he was hurried to the front, where he was held until he met a glorious death. During his campaign in the Philippines he captured this gun, which is here mounted in memory of his name. After his death it was given by his wife to the city of Fort Wayne. Fort Wayne soldiers, desiring to commemorate the life of General Lawton, have named the camp of Spanish-American War Veterans for him, Henry W. Lawton. The city also with the same purpose gave to this park the name of Lawton park, and it is here that we have raised this monument upon which the gun he captured is mounted. I, therefore, as the representative of the Henry W. Lawton camp of Spanish-American War Veterans, take pleasure in tendering to the city this gun, to be maintained in this park in memory of our beloved commander and comrade.

In a brief speech Mayor Scherer accepted the gun, and then Governor general and the quartermaster general had no opposition and were re-elected unanimously.

Upon the votes for members of the executive committee the five receiving the highest number of votes were declared elected, as follows: Ben D. Miner, 153; Alexander S. Oliver, 132; Thomas J. Maginley, 83; B. N. Woodruff, 132; J. D. Sheppard, 87.

At the close of the balloting the national commander announced the reappointment of Gen. John N. Reber, of Philadelphia, as adjutant general, and the appointment was received with much applause.

HEARD THE COMMITTEES.

Immediately after the opening ceremonies of the national encampment this morning the body took up the reports of its various committees.

The committee on resolutions reported in favor of asking the passage of a law by congress to prevent the desecration of the American flag for partisan or mercenary purposes, and the encampment promptly voted to adopt the resolution.

Under a resolution adopted this morning the national commander will at once appoint a standing committee to devise ways and means by which it can be made possible for each encampment to maintain a charity fund to aid old soldiers in distress or continued need.

A resolution declaring national commanders ineligible to re-election for two successive terms was laid upon the table, as was also a proposition to appoint a committee to negotiate with the railroad companies for a rate of one cent a mile for coming encampments.

Under a resolution introduced by Corporal Tanner the Union Veteran Legion pledges itself as a body and its members individually to assist in every possible way the humanitarian work of the Red Cross society, and extends its warmest greetings to the president of that society, Miss Clara Barton. Miss Barton will be presented a copy of this resolution.

Under the recommendation of the national commander, endorsed by the encampment, a committee will be appointed to examine the correspondence and papers in the headquarters and destroy all such as is of no value, in order to prevent the extensive accumulation of this material.

TO MEET IN OCTOBER.

The future meetings of the national encampment will be held beginning on the second Monday in October, instead of September, as has heretofore been the custom. This change is made with a view of increasing the attendance at the national meetings, as it is felt the date has been too closely following the encampment of the G. A. R. Many members desire to attend both gatherings and with but a week intervening it is found that the attendance at the U. V. L. encampment has been suffering.

Heretofore it has been the custom to issue credentials to each colonel of encampment as representatives and alternates. The plan has been found expensive and under the rule adopted today duplicate credentials will be mailed in blank by the adjutant general, such credentials to be of sufficient size to contain the names of past colonels and those elected representatives and alternates.

The encampment declined to accept the resignation of its chaplain-in-chief, Rev. Henry M. Couden, the blind chaplain of the house of representatives, who modestly desired to retire in favor of a more active member. The report of the committee "sentenced him to pray for us another year."

GO TO GETTYSBURG.

When the matter of selecting a meeting place for the next session of the national encampment came up but two cities were presented as candidates for the meeting—Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Gettysburg, Pa. There was a large delegation of Pennsylvanians present, and when the latter city was announced it aroused a tremendous cheer. On the vote the historic battlefield was

GENERAL LAWTON'S GIFT.
Here followed the formal dedication of the cannon sent by General Lawton from the Philippines as a park, of which every Indiana soldier should be proud, although it was but for a short time. Hardly had the relationship become known before General Lawton was ordered to immediately report at Tampa, Fla., from which point he was ordered as rapidly as possible to the front and was kept there actively from the time until his death in the Philippine islands.

Mount was introduced.

THE GOVERNOR'S SPEECH.
Governor Mount's address was as follows:

General Lawton's splendid achievements stand as a monument telling of the possibilities that this nation offers to its humblest citizens by birth. From among the common people he

General William R. Wooters, of Philadelphia, was this morning re-elected national commander of the Union Veteran Legion of the United States. The contest for the place was a pretty one and General Wooters captured the honors for a second time in an election where none cared to forecast the result of the vote before it was counted. There were three candidates, and the vote resulted as follows: W. R. Wooters, 110; L. P. N. Landrum, of Louisville, Ky., 70; N. M. Munkshower, of Columbus, Ohio, 26.

The second place of honor was bestowed upon a Fort Wayne man,

For junior vice commander N. M. Avis, of Camden, N. J., had 102 votes, to 67 for W. B. Tracey, of Bradford, Pa., and 21 for H. C. Zollinger, of this city. It is proper to say that General Zollinger had made no canvass for either place upon the ticket, his name being announced by friends this morning.

A GREAT RECORD.

Hard to Duplicate it in Fort Wayne.

Scores of representative citizens of Fort Wayne are testifying on the following subject. Such a record of local endorsement is unequalled in modern times. This public statement made by a citizen is but one of the many that have preceded it and the hundreds that will follow. Read it.

Mr. A. Elbert, of 62 Summit street, who conducts a repair shop at the above address, says: "I had kidney complaint for several years and on one occasion was laid up for eight weeks. My doctor thought I had Bright's disease, but none of the medicine I took did me much good. I had about lost all hope of ever getting well when I happened to read about Doan's Kidney Pills and thought I did not have much faith in their doing me good, yet I was willing to give anything a trial that had helped others, so I went to Meyer Bros. & Co.'s drug store and got a box. As soon as I began using them the pains in my back started to grow less, the kidney secretions began to clear and take on a natural color instead of being brickish red. By the time I had taken three-fourths of the box I was cured."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box.

Auburn was selected as the place for holding the next meeting, which is fixed for next September, the exact date being left to the members of the Auburn company.

Major A. L. Kuhlman, Capt. Chas. A. Greene and Corporal George B. Seaville were a committee which reported the following resolution:

"The members of the One Hundred and Fifty-seventh Volunteer Infantry association, in annual reunion assembled at Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 13, 1900, send greetings to their comrades now serving in the United States regular and volunteer armies in the Orient with commendation for their valor and patriotism and sincere desire for their continued safety and safe return to their native land."

"Resolved, That the foregoing be given to the press, that it may reach our absent comrades, and that it be spread upon the records of this association."

The resolution was adopted and then followed resolutions thanking the Wayne club, the press, the committee on arrangements and the citizens of Fort Wayne for their generous hospitality.

Nearly 200 members of the One Hundred and Fifty-seventh were in the city and after the transaction of the business of the association they listened to short talks from a number of visitors from other states, man-who had served in the volunteer army during the Spanish-American war.

A committee was appointed to represent the One Hundred and Fifty-seventh regiment at the funeral of Private Driver, which occurs tomorrow, and all Spanish-American War Veterans who are in the city will also attend.

This completed the business of the association and at 11 o'clock adjournment was taken.

unanimously chosen as the place of meeting in October, 1901.

THANKS TO FORT WAYNE.
The encampment by a unanimous vote extended an expression of its appreciation of the generous treatment accorded the veterans in Fort Wayne, and of its gratitude for the hospitality and courtesy shown the members of the national encampment.

The committee to prepare resolutions of respect and condolence upon the death of Judge Stagle, of Pittsburgh, who died but a week ago, is made up of Colonel Blakeley, of Pittsburgh, as chairman, and Comrades Dy-Shane, of New Castle, Pa., and Barnes, of Cincinnati.

During the morning session a committee from the national convention of the Ladies of the U. V. L. called at library hall to convey fraternal greetings to the national encampment. The officers held that business at that moment could not be interrupted to receive them and asked the ladies to call later, but they did not do so.

Past Commander A. B. Hay, of Pittsburgh, the founder of the Union Veteran Legion, installed the newly-elected officers, and at the conclusion of this ceremony each responded in a brief address. All were of a felicitous nature, and in the course of these remarks many pretty things were said concerning the encampment, the city and its people. It was after 1 o'clock this afternoon before the encampment completed its work and adjourned. Officers and delegates unite in the opinion that it has been one of the most successful and harmonious encampments ever held by the Union Veteran Legion.

SANG FORT WAYNE'S PRAISES.
In honor of the Union Veteran Legion national encampment in this city, Col. Horatio N. Warren, of Buffalo, has composed the following song, which was distributed among the veterans this morning.

Tune—"Dixie's Land."

In Indiana, where I was born
Early on our Sunday morn,
Look away, look away, look away to Indiana!

'Twas there in '61, and in October,
That I learned to be a soldier.
Look away, look away, look away to Indiana!

Way West among the Hoosiers,
Hurrah! Hurrah!
There we are no losers,
For we claim to be no losers.

Hurrah, hurrah, hurrah for Indiana!

The U. V. L. came to Fort Wayne,
There three days to remain,
Look away, look away, look away to old

Fort Wayne!

The people opened their houses wide,
And the old vets they did slide,
Look away, look away, look away to old

Fort Wayne!

Way West among the Hoosiers,
Away! Away!
With them we are no losers,
And three days we will stay.

Look away, look away, look away to old

MR BRYAN COMES

CROWD GREETED THE LEADER OF DEMOCRACY.

THOUSANDS AT THE DEPOT

COMMITTEE ESCORTED HIM TO FORT WAYNE.

PLANS DURING HIS VISIT

GOES TO COLUMBUS FRIDAY TO SPEAK.

Col. William Jennings Bryan arrived in Fort Wayne at 12:25 o'clock this afternoon to attend the encampment of the U. V. L. and the reunion of the One-hundred-and-fifty-seventh Indiana Volunteer Infantry association. He left Chicago at 7 o'clock this morning and made short addresses at Valparaiso and other cities. Hon. R. C. Bell and Mayor Henry P. Scherer went west this morning and met Mr. Bryan, accompanying him back to Fort Wayne. The train was ten or fifteen minutes late when it arrived at the depot, where several thousand people had congregated to see the Nebraskan. It was generally expected that he would be riding in the last car, but there was disappointment for the people who had hurried there when the train stopped. Mr. Bryan was in a car near the middle of the train. The train stopped with Mr. Bryan's car exactly opposite Clinton street, and it was intended that he should be taken into a cab at this street, but Mr. Bryan wasn't afraid of the working men and farmers congregated at the depot, and surrounded by officers and Pennsylvania detectives in charge of Superintendent Gorsline and Captain Stell he was escorted to his carriage in waiting near the baggage room. As he walked toward the carriage there was cheering and scores of hoarse hands reached out and were shaken by Mr. Bryan, whose face wore the pleasant smile so familiar to everybody who has ever seen him. There was no band, no parade; only a simple escort of several citizens. Seated in the carriage with Mr. Bryan as he drove to the home of Senator Bell were Mayor H. P. Scherer, Major W. W. Barnett and Mr. Bell. In the carriage following were Hon. J. M. Robinson, Capt. George Gale and Capt. J. H. Bohan. In another carriage rode County Commissioner Schmittler, Judge Edward O'Rourke and Peter Eggmann, chairman of the board of works. The streets were not crowded, but nevertheless there were cheers from people along the sidewalks as the carriage was hurried along to the home of Senator Bell. Arrived there Mr. Bryan was given an opportunity to enjoy a short rest, and later he ate lunch and came to the Wayne club, where he was greeted by many citizens.

After luncheon the doors of Mr. Bell's home were thrown open and scores of Fort Wayne men and women were allowed to greet Mr. Bryan. He declined to talk politics to reporters, asserting only that he thought democratic prospects were growing brighter each day.

An effort is being made to have Mr. Bryan attend a reception at Saengerbund hall after the campfires to-night, but he has an engagement to meet National Chairman Jones in Toledo tomorrow and in the afternoon is to speak in Columbus. If train connections are found to be such that Mr. Bryan can keep these engagements by leaving the city this evening he will attend the Saengerbund reception. Otherwise he will go east on the Pennsylvania limited at 9:22.

RACES THAT NEVER ADVANCE.

The Tziganes of Hungary have been described as "the savages of Europe," and it must be admitted that by their life and habits they have deserved the title. Who are the Tziganes? The name will be unfamiliar to most people; they are but little known outside the kingdom of heterogeneous elements which is now under the rule of Emperor Francis Joseph; yet they are kinsmen of our own gypsies—kinsmen who have made no progress for centuries, but have remained in their primitive state or have made a retrograde movement toward savagery.—Pear-

If Worryes
a Woman

To find her beauty fading, and feel her strength slipping slowly, at a time when the matter seems to be in a crisis, the weak woman acts. She looks around for help, and finds it in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No other medicine has done so much for weak and feeble women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures female weakness and diseases of the delicate organs which undermine woman's strength and mar her beauty. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

Mrs. W. J. Kibler, of Hilldale Farm (Knoxville, Tenn.), writes: "Your kindly advice and medicine have brought me great relief. I feel the first year I found myself pregnant and in rapidly losing health. I suffered dreadfully from bleeding and urinary difficulty. I was growing weaker each day and suffered much sleepless nights. I felt that something must be done. I bought your medicine and received a bottle. I took twelve bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and also followed your instructions. I began to improve immediately, my health became excellent, and I could do all my own work (I live on a good sized farm). I walked and rode all I could and enjoyed it. I had a short, easy confinement, and have a healthy baby boy."

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The high school foot ball team has been organized for the season and the chances for a good team are very bright. Hugh Smaltz has been elected manager and Paul Hopkins captain.

Seven games will be played in this city, four with out-of-town teams and three with local teams. Games with local teams are desired for the 22d and 29th of this month and the 6th of next. The business college, South Wayne and City teams, to be played in the order named, are preferred. The high school has always put up a fast, snappy game and is deserving of good patronage. All they need is the assurance that the gate will pay expenses. No prettier game was ever seen in this city than the Kendallville-Fort Wayne game of last year, to say nothing of the one with Huntington. Both these teams will be secured for games in this city.

These promise to be great games, for the team is as strong this year as it was last. If good crowds turn out good foot ball will be furnished.

A CAMPAIGN BET.

Hugh Dougherty and G. A. Mason made the first bet of the season yesterday, says the Bluffton News. The wager was not in dollars and cents, but if McKinley is elected Mr. Dougherty will go to Montpelier and make a speech at any point on the street Mr. Mason may designate. If Bryan is elected George will leave his stumping grounds at Montpelier and will deliver a speech from the court house steps on some subject chosen by Mr. Dougherty. In either case the loser will be accompanied by a brass band and a big crowd will be made to eat the crowd according to the latest rules of etiquette. Both parties are game and the two will stay with the bet from start to finish.

NEW USE FOR BUTTER.

Prevents Boiling Over.

The effect of coffee frequently produces biliousness and all of the accompanying distress, such as loss of appetite, dyspepsia, bowel troubles, etc. A lady from North Evanston, Ill., Mrs. Eliza J. Stuart, 2328 Hartwell ave., says: "I had used coffee many years, and though I took great care in making it, felt its ill effects very seriously. It made me bilious and robbed me of my appetite for breakfast."

"I always had trouble with dyspepsia while I used it. I was told by physicians that I had catarrh of the stomach and came to believe there was no help for me. Two years ago I quit the use of coffee and began to use Postum Food Coffee. At first I missed the stimulant, although the taste of the food coffee was delicious."

"In a few days I forgot all about my coffee in the satisfaction I derived from Postum and soon found that my appetite returned, the bilious condition and dyspepsia disappeared, so that now I am proud to say that at the age of seventy-five years I enjoy my food as well as when young and all my dyspeptic symptoms and trouble of the stomach have gone."

"These troubles had been with me for most of my life and it is really remarkable that I am now so perfectly well. To say that I am grateful does not express it. Once in a while I find a person that does not like Postum, but I always find it is because it has not been properly prepared. There is but one way to make good Postum and that is to make it exactly according to directions, allowing it to boil full fifteen minutes, not after it is placed on the stove, but after the real bubbling begins. Use a small piece of butter, about the size of two pears, to prevent boiling over."

Mr. and Mrs. A. Oppenheimer, of 54 West Berry street, have received word from their son, Rudolph, who is manager of Levi Bros. clothing store in Galveston, Tex., which was devastated by the storm on Saturday, to the effect that he and his family are safe but that their home had been swept away. The message is dated Monday and says, "We are alive but homeless."

The trouble of David B. Hill seems to be that he took too much vacation after the Chicago convention in 1896. Things slipped much farther than he thought.

Further details from Galveston only serve to make clear that the horror of the storm's work has been under-painted. It is now believed that not less than five thousand persons lost their lives and those who survived the fury of the hurricane are in the direst extremity. The city itself is almost a complete ruin, and it is even said that the site of the once prosperous and beautiful port city may be abandoned. The country is responding nobly to the appeal for help. Too much generosity cannot be displayed. The suffering in Galveston and vicinity is beyond description.

THE MINERS' STRIKE.

A strike is always to be deplored. It works harm not only to the public, but its burdens fall heaviest on the strikers, who are least able to bear them. The decision of the executive board of the United Mine Workers to authorize the anthracite miners of Pennsylvania to go on strike is at this time especially deplorable. The approach of winter will vastly multiply all the privations and horrors that a mine strike imposes, and the suffering will be intense if the struggle be a prolonged one.

The miners have just complaint. Their grievances are real. They usually are. But it must be said that the miners have endeavored to avert the trouble. They have tried compromise and as a last resort proposed to submit their contentions to impartial arbitration. This the mine operators have rejected and a great strike that will involve nearly 150,000 men has been ordered.

Among the grievances the miners want adjusted are the rent rates for the company tenement houses, which are excessive, and the price of blasting powder, which the companies sell to the miners at a profit in some cases as high as $1.50 per keg. Another cause of the trouble is the mine ton. The miners are compelled to produce about 3,300 pounds of coal for a ton and they ask that this be reduced to the same ton weight as the selling ton of the companies. There are many other grievances, which, with those here given, make up a heavy bill of complaint.

The strike will be bitter, obstinate and in all probability marked by disorder. If it is prolonged into cold weather there will be scenes not pleasant to contemplate. It is exceedingly to be regretted that the operators have refused all peace overtures. Any disposition to compromise would doubtless have averted trouble.

China has not yet learned to its full extent the use of the check and the bank of deposit, the money order or the bank draft in her mercantile transactions.

CAMP FIRES GLOW

WARMS THE HEARTS OF THE OLD VETERANS.

FOND MEMORIES COME BACK

MEETINGS AT PRINCESS RINK AND LIBRARY HALL.

SPEAKERS' LOFTY TRIBUTES

TO THE WORTH AND VALOR OF THE AMERICAN SOLDIER.

In two splendid campfires, one at Princess rink and the other at Library hall, the veterans and their friends gathered Wednesday evening, enjoyed the stirring music and cheered again and again at the recital of the valor and bravery and the glory of the American soldier.

Corporal James Tanner was the presiding officer and immediately after his introduction by Dr. E. P. Banning, the famous corporal announced his intention of varying from the fixed program. Some one had sent a handsome bouquet to the chairman, and Corporal Tanner took occasion to express his thanks for the offering, saying that the veterans appreciated the good things of life. He contended that the old soldier ought to hear the good things to be said about him; that an ounce of ratty was worth more than a pound of epitaphy.

Gen. David E. Boom, the Indiana department commander of the G. A. R., was the first speaker called upon, and he responded in part as follows:

"If there is any class of men entitled to have a good time, it is the old soldier. We don't want to claim the earth, but we are not ashamed of our record. We have a right to come before an audience of American people and assert ourselves. The Union soldier, by his fidelity, his endurance and his valor accomplished everything he set out to do. He has a right to be more happy every day he lives. There were no spoils for the American soldier to bring back—it was not spoils he went after. But he came back with the principles of the immortal Declaration of Independence made vital and living for all time. There has never been a day since I enlisted but what I have been happy because I was a Union soldier. (Applause.) As a result of the Union soldier's work we have a united, magnificent people—a nation the pride of every American citizen and the hope of every man who loves freedom throughout the world. There is no better place than Fort Wayne and no better time than the present for the dedication of that gun captured by the brave boys of the Spanish-American war. Here, where so much history clusters, it is fitting that such a presentation be made. I look into the future and I see a nation still progressing—the sturdiest hope of all the civilized world. And while we honor the late heroes who sent the American name around the world in a flame of glory, I feel that the old boys of '91 can claim a share of the honor, for we unified the country and made these later triumphs possible. I came to meet you all, and I am proud and happy to be here tonight."

Corporal Tanner called upon a Baltimore veteran, Comrade Mackey, who came forward and delighted the old soldiers by singing "The Old Coffee Kettle That Hung on a Pole." He was vociferously cheered.

THE PRIVATE SOLDIER.
Nearly a year ago, at the close of an impromptu address at Library hall, General Wooters detailed Rev. W. D. Parr, of the Wayne Street M. E. church, to respond to the sentiment "The Private Soldier." At the present encampment. In a magnificent effort that roused the veterans to the highest pitch of enthusiasm Dr. Parr last evening fulfilled this mission. In part he said:

"I esteem it a high honor to speak of the private soldier, for he was the man you could not get along without. He came from the common people, the bone and sinew of every age. The common people have given us our best men, and the private soldier is the representative of this class. He learned to use a gun and use it tremendously. You may say what you please about 'The Man with the Hoe,' but the man with the gun is supreme in history making. I would not take a laurel from the leaders. The time has been when the men who were the shoulder straps got all the credit. But things are righting themselves. Give this old world time on almost any question and she will right herself.

"Where were the lieutenants and captains? Close beside you. The majors and colonels? Well, tolerably close. The brigadier generals? Back a little. Generals? Way back. You private soldiers were in the front where the battle was hottest. When war shook the republic and the magnificent Lincoln called for help, who answered him? The private soldier. Again and again came the shout, 'We are coming, Father Abraham, a hundred thousand strong.' (Applause.) I could not help smiling today at a banner carried by the New Jersey veterans. 'The spring chickens of 1861.' Ah, yes. You were the blue-eyed boys from the factories and the field, but you knew what you went for. The country is always safe in the hands of its intelligent common people. And the boys of today will do all you did, and do it with an extra twist, for they are your sons, and have the fruits of your teaching. Keep energy and brains mixed in pretty good compound and we have no need to fear for America.

"Then the country had to be made over, and you did it. You came from the ranks of war to the paths of peace, and you got married. That was the best day's work you ever did aside from putting down the rebellion. I have faith in the homes of America, and I'm especially proud of Indiana. The state has gone a step in advance and provided a home not alone for the old soldier, but for his wife. (Cheers.) The private soldier has gotten into every nook and useful pursuit of life. Another thing; you purified the flag. (Cheers.) Thank God for that. The highest principles cost the most precious blood. There is no danger in the private soldier. He knows what he is doing. He is a sovereign. I want him to have a good home and a good time the rest of his life. I would give him the happiest journey toward the setting sun."

Dr. Parr touched upon the growth of national life, pleaded for more liberal pensions and finally asked all the private soldiers to arise to their feet. It was an impressive scene, and the speaker closed in a brilliant peroration in tribute to the private soldier who offered his life to make glorious the institutions of this land.

Dr. E. P. Banning, of this city, was called upon and speaking for the Fort Wayne veterans expressed gratitude for the manner in which the citizens of Fort Wayne had assisted in ennobling the Baltimore committee to fulfill every pledge made to the national encampment one year ago.

Gen. "Tom" Landrum, of Louisville, and General Hoxier, of Cincinnati, addressed the meeting briefly, the latter urging the teaching of patriotism to the rising generation that they may more fully understand and more dearly love the old flag. Corporal Tanner slyly intimated an intention of bringing the campfire to a close, but there were loud and general cries from every part of the house for "Tanner." The distinguished corporal responded in a magnificent address. He said in part:

CORPORAL TANNER'S TALK.
"You have heard much of the bravery of the American volunteer, but I would not have you go home with the impression that we all faced battle without a tremor. I believe a full realization of his situation comes at first to every man on the field; a consciousness that the next shot may lay him low with all life behind and all eternity opening before him. Yes, and there prayers, too. Because we were in the army need we have forgotten the teachings received at mother's knee? Ah, no. Yet we accepted the chances of war, and never to this day have I heard from the lips of even a married comrade one regret that he took those chances. He lifted that old flag a little higher than it had ever been before, and now among the nations of the earth all must look upward to see it. And the younger generation has shoved it up a notch higher, carried it ten thousand miles farther, and are standing behind it in China tonight. (Cheers.)

"This country is going to do business for a good while yet. All the states now stand as they never stood before in defense of the flag. Our country is safe because we have the sturdiest manhood and the loftiest womanhood in the wide world. I would leave one last word to these old comrades of mine: Be as manly men as you were good soldiers. Be as true to your better nature and to your God as you were to your country and your flag. Then in the last hour, when we face the unconquerable enemy, we shall look upon it as an opening door and on the other side there will be a general reunion. Not a comrade missing. When we lie down at last in those tents whose curtains never outward swing we can look upon that old flag. There will come a great beauty in our hearts, a glow of mighty pride as the

In closing the immense audience, standing, united in singing "America," and for some time the old veterans marched past the platform to grasp the hand of their distinguished comrade.

AT LIBRARY HALL.

There was some delay in calling the campfire at Library hall together. Several hundred people were in the hall at 8 o'clock, but none of the gentlemen assigned to get the campfire started were present, and at 8:30 o'clock Col. John A. Scott took matters in hand and requested Gen. A. B. Hay, of Pittsburgh, to act as chairman until the arrival of Gen. W. R. Wooters, who had been chosen to act as chairman. Mr. Hay was founder of the Union Veteran Legion. After prayer by Rev. Norris, Mr. Hay announced that he would try to keep the audience interested until General Wooters and the other speakers arrived. Mr. Hay recalled the days of the civil war when the boys in blue were camping and marching in the enemy's country and lauded them for their great valor in preventing the disunion of the greatest nation on the face of the earth.

GENERAL WOOTERS SPEKS.

Shortly before 9 o'clock General Wooters and Governor Mount arrived at the hall, escorted by Mayor Scherer, and later Hon. R. C. Bell arrived. Mr. Hay introduced General Wooters as chairman of the campfire, and the Union Veteran Legion leader proceeded to describe what a campfire was. He explained that the ones being held in Fort Wayne during the encampment were unlike those of the sixties. Then the boys sat on kettles and other improvised seats around the smoldering fires of the company cooks and talked of home and the dear ones behind. Sometimes they would vary the monotony by going on foraging tours, and again they would have music and songs by some of the amateur musicians and singers who could always be found in every company. There were many hardships during the war and the union soldiers suffered much, but there were many pleasant features of army life, and the speaker told of many incidents which came within his experience which at the time were hardships, but which he now looked back upon as enjoyable incidents of his life as a soldier.

GOVERNOR MOUNT SPEAKS.

Chairman Wooters introduced Governor Mount as one of the comrades in blue whom he for the first time had met in yesterday. The governor was greeted with applause and began his address by paying a tribute to the Union Veteran Legion, all of whom were men who had been in the thickest of the fray for the protection of the flag and knew what it meant to be a soldier. A man, he said, who had served two years or more in the front knew of the hardships that were to be met in a soldier's life. He believed that the present prosperity, the present position America now held in the world could be credited to the brave boys in blue who had fought as brave an enemy more than a third of a century ago. The character of the United States government had then been settled forever and there need be no fear that its policy would ever be changed. The drafters of the constitution had made a mistake in allowing slavery to exist and permitting citizens to arrest fugitive black people and turn them back to their owners. Every effort had been made to amicably settle this question, but there was no way to settle it but with that final arbiter—the sword. God had kept a watchful eye on the struggling armies of the north and south and He guided so that the great question was settled right.

The speaker said that when he was mustered out of the army at the end of the war he did not believe that the day would come when he could forgive the men who had fought against the flag, but he was happy to say that only a year or so ago he had the extreme pleasure of attending a reunion of the blue and the gray at Evansville and there heard from the lips of the men who had opposed the union forces thanks uttered that the question of slavery had been settled and settled right. He had the extreme pleasure of signing a bill which had been passed by the Indiana legislature returning to the Texas Rangers the battleflag captured by the regiment of which he was a member. When he visited the great Lone Star state to officially return the flag he had seen the gray-haired veterans of the blue and gray rub elbows and tears were in the eyes of many as they realized at last that this was a reunited country. One of the proudest moments of his life, the governor said, was when he visited the old battlegrounds of Chickamauga and there helped dedicate to Indiana soldiers the handsomest monument ever erected to the boys in blue in the United States. Little did he think a quarter of a century ago that this great pleasure was in store for him. This was recompense enough for the years he had fought under the flag for the preservation of the union. The governor closed his speech with another pretty compliment to the members of the Union

Veteran Legion. The old soldiers were rapidly passing to the great beyond and a quarter of a century hence a patriot who fought from 1861 to 1865 to prevent the dissolution of his country would be a wonder to the generations then alive. But never would the American people forget the brave young soldiers who had made it possible for the country to rank as the greatest on the face of the earth.

During his speech Governor Mount repeated several instances of his army life. There were all characters of men among the soldiers and on foraging expeditions many popular articles were brought into camp. He recalled that one soldier returned to camp with a horse, which he hooked around a tree and commenced to hug. He had not forgotten somebody at home.

General Wooters again entertained the audience with reminiscences of camp life and as he told of the methods adopted by a regimental cook to prepare apple dumplings for several companies the ladies in the hall were convulsed with laughter. The cook had forgotten the shortening, and instead of the great treat, the soldiers were disgusted with their dumplings and the cook lost his job, only to be succeeded by a worse one.

HON. R. C. BELL HEARD.

General Wooters next introduced Hon. R. C. Bell, who began, as had the governor, by complimenting the members of the Union Veteran Legion, all of whom knew soldier life from A to Z. They had fought for years to maintain the principles of the American flag, not in battles of conquest, but in protection of their country. He, too, believed that to the valor of the soldier boys of '60 can the great republic today be thankful for its standing as the great nation of the world, the harbinger of freedom and liberty to all peoples. Mr. Bell also told many laughable incidents of his experience as a soldier.

FORMER FORT WAYNE LADY IN ATTENDANCE AT THE ENCAMPMENT.

MRS. SARAH E. PITTMAN,

Delegates from the Washington City Ladies' Auxiliary, No. 32, Union Veteran Legion. This is the banner ladies' auxiliary of the United States, having a membership of 111. Mrs. Pittman was the first lady trustee of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' home at Knightstown and served two terms in this capacity under the appointment of Governor Isaac P. Gray. She was afterwards secretary of the board.

Mrs. Pittman is the wife of Jeremiah F. Pittman, special examiner of pensions, who was stationed at Fort Wayne in 1895 and 1896. She is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fulton, of West Wayne street, and will remain for several days after the close of the encampment to visit friends in the city.

RAISED A HICKORY POLE.

Last evening the young democrats held a rousing meeting at Tegmeyer's saw mill, on West Superior street, and a 120-foot hickory pole was raised with a Bryan and Stevenson streamer floating to the breeze. The Jefferson club drum corps was present and speeches were made by John H. Aiken and E. V. Emrick.

OFFICIAL COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

PETITION.

To the Mayor and Common Council.
Gentlemen: There is a public necessity existing for the location and maintaining of an electric light at the corner of Wallace and Clay streets. The grade of the two streets at that point is such that pitch darkness prevails on nights when there is no moon. The undersigned property owners in the neighborhood of the streets, as well as those who have occasion to use the street at night, ask that a light be maintained at that point.
R. M. Traves and fourteen others.
Referred to committee on street lights.

GENERAL ORDINANCE NO. 162.

An ordinance relative to the taxing of dogs, and repealing General Ordinance No. 36 relating to same subject matter.

GENERAL ORDINANCE NO. 163.

An ordinance making certain territory within the corporate limits of the city a part of the Tenth ward.

GENERAL ORDINANCE NO. 164.

An ordinance making certain territory within the corporate limits of the city a part of the Tenth ward.

Respectfully submitted,
HENRY P. SCHERER,
Mayor.

COMMUNICATION BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 7, 1900.

H. C. Berghoff, Comptroller.

Dear Sir: Will you please arrange for an appropriation of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) to the park fund, the same being necessary to properly carry on the park work during the balance of the year. A great deal of new work was completed in the parks so far this season, particularly in Ewinney park, and it is for this reason that we ask for the additional appropriation. Very respectfully,
A. M. SUMMIST, Clerk.

To His Honor the Mayor and Common Council.

Gentlemen: I think $100 sufficient to carry on the work throughout this year and recommend that that amount be appropriated.

Respectfully,
HENRY C. BERGHOFF,
Comptroller.

COMMUNICATION BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 10, 1900.

H. C. Berghoff, Comptroller.

Dear Sir: Please arrange for an appropriation of three hundred and fifty dollars ($350) for the purpose of properly maintaining the lawn and in laying park.

By order of the board of public works,
A. M. SUMMIST, Clerk.

To His Honor the Mayor and Common Council.

Gentlemen: I think the above amount should be paid out of monument funds now on hand and if done need not any additional appropriation.

Respectfully,
HENRY C. BERGHOFF,
Comptroller.

REMONSTRANCE.

To the Mayor and Honorable Council of Fort Wayne.

Gentlemen: The members of the Vehicle Owners' association, which comprises more than two hundred of the taxpayers of Fort Wayne, desire to make known to you their objections to the vehicle tax before you take the final vote on the repeal of that obnoxious ordinance.

First: We oppose the tax more from principle than by reason of the money involved, because we are sure it is unconstitutional to tax not only twice on the same property but also twice on the same person. We have street tax, we pay a poll tax to keep up the streets, then a tax on our personal property, including horses, wagons, etc., then a county tax and a state tax.

Second: The claim of the supporters of the tax that it is necessary because it is not well founded, as we should not be singled out to make up the deficit when it should be borne by all the taxpayers equally.

Third: All vehicles are not taxed. Street cars are not, and their owners have a much larger vote than we have. Permit us to ask why they are not compelled to pay and take out tax tags; and why are not the wagons that bring hay and saw logs over our best streets compelled to pay the vehicle tax when they certainly do as much damage to the streets as our heaviest trucks, and their owners pay neither city taxes nor for street improvements.

Fourth: The ordinance is not fairly and equitably enforced. Many escape because they refuse to pay, while others compromise for less than the regular fee.

Fifth: The claim that it is necessary, to enable the tax levy to be reduced, and if the ordinance is repealed the levy will have to be increased, seems a confession of weakness; for why should we be singled out to carry more than our share of taxes to enable the balance of the taxpayers to pay less?

Every one of us have paid our proportion of street improvements, the tax assessments on our horses, wagons and other personal property, and then to be compelled to pay the vehicle tax is a double taxation, which cannot be legally collected.

We are not here to coerce or influence this honorable body, but to impress upon them that a representative body of taxpayers believe they are being imposed upon, and to respectfully request you to give this statement a fair consideration and then to vote as your conscience may dictate.

REMONSTRANCE.

To the Honorable Mayor and Members of the Common Council.

Gentlemen: I am seeking to place water meter boxes for advertising purposes on the streets of the city of Fort Wayne, having asked you to approve of their purpose, we, the undersigned, do hereby petition that your honorable body refuse to grant this privilege to the aforesaid firm for the following reasons:

1. Such boxes standing three (3) feet high by two (2) feet wide on the sidewalk will prove an obstruction.

2. There is no need for such boxes, as the Woman's Club League has placed water meter boxes for advertising purposes on the streets of the city of Fort Wayne, having asked you to approve of their purpose, we, the undersigned, do hereby petition that your honorable body refuse to grant this privilege to the aforesaid firm for the following reasons:

3. The undersigned which such boxes covered with promissory advertising, will present, placed on our clearly, orderly and present well-kept streets.

COMMUNICATION.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 11, 1900.

Sealmen of the Council.

Dear Sir: I signed the petition of the Woman's Club League under a misapprehension, not understanding all the facts relating thereto. I desire to state that I believe the franchise Mr. Miller asks for will result in bringing some income to the city rather than the expense that the present system creates, and I do not believe the boxes will be any obstruction to sidewalks or be at all unsightly.

Yours truly,
G. McCULLOUGH.

Referred to committee on contracts and franchise.

REMONSTRANCE.

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council of the City of Fort Wayne.

In the matter of the franchise proposed for your approval by the board of public works of said city, in favor of Henry P. Scherker, L. S. Nall, L. C. Hunter, C. W. Orr and W. S. O'Rourke, for a right of way for interurban street railway purposes over and along certain streets of said city, the undersigned respectfully remonstrate against the granting by you of said franchise.

Your remonstrance, in addition to being the owners of some fifteen hundred front feet of property along Pioneer avenue and the Wayne Trace, affected by the proposed franchise, are the owners of all of the 50 lots in Edgerlow's addition to the city of Fort Wayne, except four, and certain portions of other lots in said addition intersected by the right of way of the Findlay, Fort Wayne and Western railway. They are the owners of all the lots, except one, in said addition on Walton avenue, Selden street and Winter street, along or in front of which said franchise would extend, viz: Lots 26, 3, 6, 7, 21, 22, 23, 24, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36.

They are opposed to the granting of the proposed franchise on the ground that any such street railway, the operation of which is contemplated and provided for in said franchise, can by no possibility be of sufficient value to said city to warrant the use of the streets over which it extends, and to extend the same and, on the ground that they, in their property rights and interests along the Wayne Trace, Selden street, Walton avenue and Winter street, will be greatly damaged by the granting of said franchise along said highway and streets.

They firmly believe that neither they nor other similarly interested along streets affected by said proposed franchise can ever, by any possibility, receive any benefit from the granting of the franchise proposed that will be commensurate with the damage to the streets over which it extends, and to extend the same and, on the ground that they, in their property rights and interests along the Wayne Trace, Selden street, Walton avenue and Winter street, will be greatly damaged by the granting of said franchise along said highway and streets.

The defeat of the Toledo yesterday by Marion practically settles the race for second place, although the Mud Hens might tie the Fort Wayne for second place if the schedule were to be played out, providing Fort Wayne lost every one of the three games with Mansfield and Toledo won all the games they have yet to play. It is hardly probable that Fort Wayne will lose three games to the Haymakers and Toledo has some hard nuts to crack before the season ends, so it is now reasonably certain that Fort Wayne has second place "cinched." It is possible that the directors of the league may do some juggling in that disputed Wheeling-Fort Wayne game and to prevent all chance of successful dispute the Fort Wayne will make a big effort to win all of the games with Mansfield and they are certain to be for blood. Of course, there will be a post-season series with Dayton and instead of following the usual course and allowing the players to divide the receipts, it is understood that they will be kept on salary for a week or two and the Fort Wayne management will keep the Fort Wayne's share of money. Seven or nine games will be played, most of them in Dayton and Fort Wayne, but if a "rubber" is necessary it will be played in Toledo or some neutral city.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Wadsworth and Nattress may come to Fort Wayne and play the post-season series with Dayton if Harper and Krueger return to St. Louis after Sunday's game.

Since Louis Hallbroner took the management of the St. Louis team "Muggs" McGraw has not been batting to his standard and will be lucky, indeed, to finish in the first dozen batters.

The Fort Wayne did not play yesterday and there will be no games to-day and tomorrow. Saturday there will be one game with Mansfield and on Sunday a double-header between the two teams will end the season.

Pittsburgh keeps on winning in the east and if it can beat the tall-enders as easily as Boston, Brooklyn and Philadelphia were disposed of will come very near taking the lead in the league race before returning home.

The last three victories have been won with Hans Wagner, the great slugger, out of the game.

Strong and Kling, the minor leaguers signed by Chicago, jumped into the games at New York yesterday and their play was the best seen this season on the New York diamond. Strong, who last season played in the Inter-State, made eight hits in nine times at bat and Kling did some great work behind the bat.

THE YOUNG VETERANS.

stepped to the front when danger menaced the country. From the private soldier he steadily advanced in promotion, won by his noble qualities as a soldier, coupled with his native zeal, his native ability and courage. The chivalrous conduct of the confederate soldier revealed the fact that he was our equal in all constituent elements of warfare.

Without military education General Lawton became a great commander. His ability as a leader, his glorious reputation for intrepid gallantry was established when opportunity offered. His regiment, the Thirtieth Indiana, by its noble fighting, won fame on many battlefields. When the civil war closed, he was given a position in the regular army. His resourcefulness, his sagacity as well as his courage, was made manifest in the war with the Indians. In the Spanish war he won additional laurels. He was the hero of El Caney, for it was he who did the heroic fighting and asked that the order to fall back at El Caney be put in writing by his superior officer, and improved the time thus gained to hurl his battalion against the heights and plant his country's flag upon the fortified crest. In the Philippine islands he again displayed that fearless spirit, the high courage that can look death in the face without blanching. He was a commander who gave orders from the firing lines. Having faithfully, loyally, heroically served his country, and for his valiant service having risen from private to major general in the regular army, he died as the hero would choose to die, in the front of the fight. His loyalty to his home city and state was in keeping with his fidelity to the nation.

This Philippine gun, captured by your brave son and presented to his home city, it eloquently expressive of his devotion to Fort Wayne. The measure of your appreciation of this gift is two-fold. First, because the donor captured it in war and directed that it be presented to you. Second, it is of value as a war souvenir, in that it was trained on the American flag, the banner of freedom, and on the brave American patriots who carried the flag and ended the dominancy of imperial Spain, under whose oppression these same insurgents had been held for centuries. The brave boys of the north and the south, united in the common cause of humanity, broke the Spanish yoke only to find that a treacherous insurgent leader had betrayed and sold his people to Spain—one, who, through the kindness of Admiral Dewey, was permitted to return, again proved treacherous, organized the Philippines, planned the destruction of their deliverers, and turned his engines of war against the American soldier. From such blood-stained, unhallowed hands General Lawton captured this gun, which he directed be presented to this city.

The kind of leaders brave Lawton fought and the barbarous warfare they waged was tersely presented in the New York Journal in the following strong language:

"Aguinaldo's men are now attempting to carry out a progression of savagery; they are making war by incendiarism and assassination, and if they could gain possession of Manila, a carnival of slaughter, rapine and conflagration would horrify the world. We must crush this band of incendiaries and assassins once for all."

To the accomplishment of this useful work your friend and hero gave his life. If this cannon was not captured in a just and humane war and from those resisting the lawfully constituted authority over these islands and fighting the soldiers of the government that had liberated them from Spanish thralldom, then where is the honor of the capture and the glory of this gift of which you are so proud? Honor these insurgents as patriots, then you interpret wrongly the words, the will and the act of our dead hero, and then this service becomes a hollow mockery and this trophy of patriotic valor becomes a monument to the dishonor of our soldiers and the shame of our country.

The fire of patriotism that inspired Lawton to deeds of heroic daring at El Caney quenched not when grave duties and larger responsibilities, the unforeseen and unavoidable outgrowth of the Spanish war, were forced upon us. His was declared elected to the office. The work of choosing officers occupied the whole of the morning, with the following result:

President—Mrs. Ella E. West, of Brooklyn, N. Y.
Senior Vice President—Mrs. Amanda Edsall, Fort Wayne (two ballots).
Junior Vice President—Mrs. Emma M. Sullivan, of Indianapolis.
Chaplain—Mrs. Jennie Guthridge, of Columbus, Ohio.

A committee on resolutions was also chosen, consisting of Mrs. Hattie P. Madden, Mrs. Mary Rose, Mrs. Agnes Lyshon and Mrs. Hattie Parker.

Some minor matters of business received attention and the meeting adjourned at 1:35 for luncheon.

The ladies again assembled in the court house this afternoon and appointed a treasurer, secretary and the installing and instituting officers and council. It is probable that another meeting will be called for tomorrow to complete whatever business remains undone.

SHELTON-ROBBE.

Costa C. Shelton and Miss Blanche Robbe were united in marriage Wednesday evening, the ceremony being performed at the Episcopal residence by Rev. Father Guendling. The bride was prettily attired in a suit of white silk and carried white roses, while the bridesmaid, Miss Lizzie Taylor, wore white organdie and carried pink roses. The groomsmen were E. N. Swerengen, of Toledo, and at the close of the ceremony a wedding supper will be served at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Shelton will be at home to their friends after September 16 at 280 West Main street.

GAVE HIM A JEWEL.

Christian Bruns, the veteran machinist in the Pittsburgh shops, and one of the oldest members of Concordia lodge, No. 228, I. O. O. F., was signally honored by the members of that order last night. Yesterday was the seventy-second anniversary of Mr. Bruns' birth and the thirty-eighth anniversary of his initiation into the Odd Fellow lodge. To make the day memorable, his brethren to the number of thirty-six called at his home on South Harrison street and presented him with a jewel, emblematic of the order. Charles Burchard made the presentation speech, to which Mr. Bruns responded most feelingly. A season of social intercourse followed the presentation until 11 o'clock, when supper was announced and the scene of mirth and good cheer was transferred from the sitting to the dining room.

IS WELL PLEASED.

Col. I. D. McDonald, of Columbia City, who was the joint senator for the counties of Allen and Whitley during 1886 and 1887, came down yesterday to visit the school for the feeble minded youth of the state, and says that he is very much pleased to find the school in such good condition. He visited the school and the farm and found all things in most excellent order. It will be recalled that Colonel McDonald was the author in the state senate of the bill establishing the school and that he never tired in his efforts to secure the passage of the law establishing the school at Fort Wayne. Of course, he would naturally feel a deep interest in the success of that institution. He has high praises for the very efficient management by the trustees and the superintendent.

DRESS SLASHER AT WORK.

The Misses Sophia and Augusta Kleopfer, of 19 Wilt street, were the victims last night of the "dress slasher." The young ladies were standing in a crowd on Calhoun street, between 7:30 and 8 o'clock, and it was there that the villain accomplished his work. The garment of each was cut in such manner as to render it almost worthless. The ladies held their pocketbooks in their hands and so far as they know there was no attempt made to rob them. They think the cutting was done in a spirit of carelessness.

JONES FOR BRYAN.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Mayor Jones today, in a card to the public, declines to stand as a candidate for congress in the Toledo district. Petitions have been circulated and it was the intention of the democrats to endorse his candidacy. In his card Mr. Jones says the demand for him is not sufficient to make it a duty to become a candidate and that he will decline to serve as such.

He appraises the policy of President McKinley, declares against imperialism and militarism, is opposed to the administration policy in the Philippines and declares it to be his intention to vote for Bryan, although he will not become a democrat or a member of any party. The card has created a political sensation and as Mr. Bryan will be here tonight it is believed an effort will be made to prevail on Mr. Jones to stand for congress as a democrat.

A SLIGHT BLAZE.

At 9:40 o'clock this morning the fire department was called to the premises of Christ Yager, at 72 Oregon avenue, where a small barn was damaged to the extent of $5.

HONOR MRS. EDSALL.

The Ladies of the Union Veteran Legion convened in the commissioners' rooms in the new court house at 9 o'clock this morning, with the retiring president, Mrs. Mary E. Reighel, in the chair.

After a devotional service the regular business session was opened and balloting for the officers of the Legion was commenced. There were six candidates for the presidency, and after six ballots had been taken Mrs. Ella E. West, of Brooklyn, N. Y.,

was declared elected to the office. The work of choosing officers occupied the whole of the morning, with the following result:

President—Mrs. Ella E. West, of Brooklyn, N. Y.
Senior Vice President—Mrs. Amanda Edsall, Fort Wayne (two ballots).
Junior Vice President—Mrs. Emma M. Sullivan, of Indianapolis.

INDUSTRIAL NEWS

CARPENTERS ARE IN GREAT DEMAND IN THE CITY.

ONLY ONE SHOP IS CLOSED

OTHERS IN OPERATION WITH A SMALL FORCE.

REINSTATING THE ENGINEMEN

NICKEL PLATE TAKES BACK SOME SUSPENDED MEN.

Fort Wayne can give employment to a number of carpenters at present. There is scarcely an establishment in the city where men of this class are employed that is not short. Of course, we mean good workmen men who are complete masters of the trade and can do fine work. Supt. B. A. Barnes, of the electric works, said this morning that he was needing two or three carpenters and knew not where to find them. There seems to be an abundance of common labor, as indicated by the number of applicants who appear at the various shops in the city, but skilled workmen of all classes can readily find employment.

WRECK AT WABASH.

Engine 184, Engineer Henderson at the throttle, pulling the west-bound Wabash local freight train, dashed into two cars that were left standing upon the main track in Wabash last night, at 5:50. The engine plowed its way through the cars, badly wrecking them and knocking off its pilot and headlight. None of the crew were hurt.

ONLY ONE SHOP CLOSED.

The Pittsburg shops are idle this afternoon and the men employed there are participating in the exercises down town. This establishment is the only one in the city that suspended business completely, but the others are running with greatly reduced force, the men generally being allowed to decide whether or not they should work. At the electric works all those belonging to the Legion and the Grand Army and all the younger soldiers were permitted to leave their work, but it was expected that all others would work. Mr. Barnes, the superintendent, regretted that he could not allow all to go, but that was impossible, in view of the many contracts for dynamos that are now past due. And yesterday there came to the works orders for two large dynamos from parties in Kansas, one of the conditions being that the machines be built and delivered in two weeks. Under such conditions a day's shut down is a serious affair, which the management endeavored to avert.

HIRED SOME FIREMEN.

On account of the improvement in freight traffic the Nickel Plate has employed a few more firemen, included in the number being Dick Noble, P. P. Swartz, William Cameron, W. Deavens, C. W. Alexander and Chester Fisher. Mr. Noble worked on the road before, being among those firemen who were suspended several months ago when business was light.

TWO CARS WRECKED.

Two box cars were "kicked" into a spur track at the Pittsburg warehouse with a little too much vigor early this morning. One of the cars, when it struck the bumping post, telescoped that obstruction and turned over upon its side upon an adjoining track, leaving its trucks on the tracks from which it jumped. The other car simply left the rails and was not damaged. The wreck crew was called to pick up the crippled car.

UNFORTUNATE SHOPMEN.

A. F. Ford, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, was assisting in moving a hand cart loaded with iron yesterday, when a bar of the metal rolled over upon his left hand and painfully bruised all the fingers, though none are so badly hurt as to necessitate amputation. J. Ensch, a member of Martin Noll's gang in the shipping department at the car shops, had some toes pinched yesterday though none are badly injured. He was handling car wheels, when one of them passed over his foot with the result named. Both of these gentlemen will be off duty awhile.

A VERY BUSY ESTABLISHMENT.

E. H. Belden, of the Belden-Larwill Electric company, went east last night to close a contract for some electrical supplies. The company's works in the north side are very busy and most of the employees are now working thirteen hours per day. The recent addition to the machinery and shop force has been accompanied by a proportionate increase in the number of orders placed with the firm.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Nickel Plate train No. 3 was over an hour late last night, the delay being due to trouble east of Buffalo.

L. M. Murray is sick and James Leach has a lame hand. Both are employed in the Pittsburg boiler shop.

The Electric company this morning shipped a dynamo each to Worcester, Mass., and Madison, Minn.

Operator W. C. Norton resumed work in the Nickel Plate yard office this morning, after a two weeks' vacation.

Harry O. Russell, a member of the Nickel Plate warehouse switching crew, was taken ill yesterday and had to relinquish work.

Pittsburg Engineers C. J. Pearson, Clarence Misner, and R. J. Lyons have returned to their duties on the road after a brief illness.

Harry Mills, a winder at the Electric works, is nursing a lame foot, the injury being caused by a horse stepping upon the member.

Conductor Harry Overholser and brakemen John Miller and William J. Miller, of the Nickel Plate, are attending the Van Wert fair.

M. J. Murphy, a hammer boy at the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, has recovered from his recent illness and this morning reported for work.

John Haines, carpenter employed at Rhinesmith & Simonson's factory, has returned from Petoskey, where he spent ten days with a relative.

Purchasing Agent Frank Brown and his assistant, William Geiger, of the Pittsburg, are now comfortably located in their new office at the shops.

H. T. Ebs, a telegrapher who has been working in the Nickel Plate yard office for three or four weeks, has gone to Knox, Ind., to work a few days.

F. Steck and C. L. Ward, Pittsburg brakemen, each had an accident in which their ankles were sprained yesterday. Both were hurt in getting off the engine.

Machinist Philip France, who was engaged in a mining tool factory in Chicago two months, has returned to the city and Monday morning will resume his old place in the Pittsburg shops.

George Zegry and William Miller, of the Rhinesmith & Simonson factory, are off duty, the former on account of sickness and the latter to entertain a baby boy, presented to him last night.

It was quite cool last night, particularly on the west end of the Pittsburg, and some of the Pittsburg trains had steam turned into their heating pipes for the first time in three months.

Engineers P. T. Welsh, D. W. Rhodes and William Glenn and Firemen Stephen Bolyard, W. Koch, R. A. Parrett and C. E. Glenn, of the Pittsburg, are off duty, all being sick except William and C. E. Glenn, who are attending the encampment.

Machinist Herman Regel, for two months engaged in setting up a Bass engine at Tonawanda, N. Y., has completed that task and returned home. Tonawanda is the home of the inventor of the walking iron man, which will be in Fort Wayne soon on its trip to the Pacific coast, advertising the Pan-American exposition.

Indianapolis Journal: "St. Joseph may be selected as the national headquarters of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. Negotiations are pending between the members of the order and the commercial club of that city. The deal, if consummated, will mean the erection of a large office building of eight or ten stories and the establishment of a permanent convention hall, in which the gatherings of the order will be held annually."

William Rosenberger, who had been sojourning at Rome City for a week, resumed his place in the store room at the Kerr Murray works yesterday.

Upon the authority of the Railroad Gazette equipment orders during August included 6,176 cars of all kinds and 129 locomotives, of which twelve were for export.

In the month of August the Indiana Car Service association handled 23,312 cars, with an average delay of 1.58 days. This is the best record as to the prompt movement of cars made since the association was established.

Mrs. E. E. Crawford has gone to Chicago to visit her brothers and Mrs. A. B. Downey has gone to Van Wert for a visit with relatives. Messrs. Crawford and Downey, the husbands of the ladies, are Pittsburg firemen.

S. G. Blanchard, the veteran agent of the Pennsylvania lines at Mahoningtown, who had been twenty-nine years with the company, has been retired and given an easy position. He will continue to receive the same salary as formerly.

W. B. Clark, who was appointed traveling passenger agent of the Toledo, St. Louis and Western, to succeed Fred T. Boyd, resigned, has notified the Clover Leaf officials that he has decided to remain with the Ohio Central as agent at Kenton.

Officers of the Santa Fe have agreed to suspend the $2 switching charge on grain at Kansas City, provided the shippers at that point will see that no congestion results. The Santa Fe people say that they will re-establish the charge if a blockade threatens.

The Kerr Murray company has again found it necessary to increase its number of workmen in the shop and the following persons were given employment in the foundry department: Frank Eckert, Louis Schlaudrauf, Charles Bates and Roy Vandermark.

The Kerr Murray works, which have been using water from the city mains, will soon draw its supply from a well at the shops, which is now in course of driving. Most of the large manufacturing establishments now have their own water works.

The Chesapeake and Ohio railway, according to Richmond authorities, threatens to remove its shops from Richmond in the event a decision is rendered against it in certain matter which has gone to the courts. In the event it is decided to make the change Newport News should get the shops.

The roads are now purchasing a box car forty feet long or over for $350, against $400 for the same pattern one year ago. Eight-wheel box cars thirty-six feet and under at $300 a year ago sold at $350. In other patterns of cars there has been a reduction, but not so marked as with box cars.

The Tennessee Central railroad, which is rapidly nearing completion, has purchased 380 freight cars and passenger equipment amounting to $250,000. The road has been built to Crossville, Tenn., and it is said sixty miles of the road will have been built in six or seven days, which will complete the line from Monterey to Emory Gap.

At the annual meeting of the Burlington stockholders, to be held in Chicago on November 7, a proposition will be considered further to consolidate the railroad properties of the company in Iowa, Missouri and other states. The plan is to purchase franchises of all railroad companies whose roads and properties are now held by the company under lease.

Nine hundred acres of land in western Kansas, owned by the Union Pacific, conceded to be unexcelled for cattle raising purposes, will be placed on the market October 1st. Determination to do this is the direct result of the conditions of prosperity existing at this time in the sections from which the probable purchasers of this land will be recruited.

The railways and the manufacturers of steel rails are engaged in a quarrel over the price of rails for 1901. The manufacturers want $29 per ton and the railway men declare that they will pay only $25. At the latter figure they would immediately place orders to the amount of 2,000,000 tons. Three years ago steel rails sold as low as $17 per ton.

BIG STRIKE IS ON.

MINERS IN LACKAWANNA VALLEY QUIT WORK.

EVERY MINE SHORTHANDED

LOCAL UNIONS WILL HAVE MEETINGS TONIGHT.

BIG STRIKE WAS ORDERED

BY MONDAY 150,000 MINERS WILL BE IDLE.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 13.—The strike of the anthracite miners of the Lackawanna valley is now practically on, for every mine that is working today is running short handed. The Dodge and the Bellevue collieries of the Lackawanna company were entirely shut down.

The Manville colliery worked only a portion of the day and in all the upper valley there was almost complete stoppage excepting that the man obeyed the order of National Committeeman Dilcher and President Nichols, of this district, to clean up their places and remove their tools.

Tonight every local union in the region is directed to meet in special session and they will without doubt decide to quit work tomorrow.

It is expected that not a mine will operate tomorrow anywhere between Forest City and Shickshinny in this district, and it is said at headquarters here that the same is expected of the other districts. The United Mine Workers' officers here deprecate all stoppages in advance. They want are ordered properly carried out, but will not restrain the men from immediate action.

They are assured that on Monday next there will be a complete response to the strike order. At the office of the Lackawanna company it was stated today that the decision to stand together in refusing the miners' demands by the operators will hold until broken. The refusal is based almost wholly upon the claim that the bituminous interests are behind the movement.

No dealings will be had with the men who represent such interests it was declared by General Superintendent Loomis.

THE STRIKE ORDERED.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 13.—The coal miners of the Pennsylvania anthracite regions will go out Monday morning, for President Mitchell and Secretary Wilson, of the United Mine Workers' of America affixed their signatures late yesterday afternoon to the document which calls 148,000 members to strike. These two names on a bit of paper will precipitate one of the greatest strikes in the history of organized labor.

Yesterday afternoon President Mitchell and Secretary Wilson sat in the headquarters and opened telegrams from different parts of the anthracite region thinking each message might be some concession from the operators that would prevent the strike.

President Mitchell will leave Saturday for Hazleton, Pa., to personally conduct the strike.

The strike order is addressed "to the officers and members of the United Mine Workers of America and all other miners and mine workers of the anthracite region of Pennsylvania."

After reciting the events of the convention held at Hazleton, Pa., August 27, in which ten days were granted the mine owners to accede to the demands of the men, the order goes on to recite that September 8 information was received to the effect that the differences could be adjusted without a strike. This caused the delay. The futile negotiations ended yesterday and the strike was ordered for September 17, 1900, without further notice.

THE DEMOCRATIC CLUB.

Frank E. Purcell, secretary of the Fort Wayne Democratic club, received notice today that the club had been admitted to membership in the national association. A meeting will be held next Tuesday evening, at which time two delegates will be elected to the state convention to be held in Indianapolis, October 3.

CHOOSE TRUSTEES.

The Eleventh Indiana battery elected the following trustees: W. L. Andrews, Coldwater, Mich., three years; John MacIntosh, Hongland, Ind., two years; John H. Jacobs, one year. This completed the business of the association and the members have today been talking over war times and refreshing each others' memories of the happening over thirty-five years ago.

THE UP-TO-DATE HOUSE.

One of the latest ideas in building houses is to construct the kitchen, bathrooms and laundries without corners, all rounded, so that no dirt may collect and the room may be kept thoroughly clean. A first-class house has at least three baths, two for the family and one for the servants, and frequently more.

Some of the real estate firms now advertise residences with dark rooms for amateur photographers. These are usually in cellars and are provided with running water and electric red lanterns. Private Turkish baths are not uncommon, as are also private barber shops. These usually consist of a regular barber's chair, with mirrors, basins and other fittings.

High-class houses frequently have burglar and fire-proof safes built into the walls of the dining rooms. These are large enough to hold plate. In a well appointed house every closet of any size may be illuminated by electricity.

But the newest fashion is to have no closets at all. It's English, you know.

Healthy Hair.
The organism of the human hair is most delicate; each hair must live and breathe to be healthy. The road to ruin for most hair is through improper treatment. Our knowledge of hair makes it possible for us to take the best of care of it. In addition to taking care of the hair we handle a full line of hair goods and stimulants for the head and hair. If you have any affection of the scalp we can supply you with proper remedies.
